

ATTN: Business Editors
For Immediate Release
December 2004

Contact:
Scott Gibson
President, D&D Building
(616) 243-5633

Santa Brings Safety & Shopping to D&D Building

Grand Rapids, MI – D&D Building, located at 3264 Union St., SE, is playing Santa and giving construction safety training and fun to employees. On Thursday, December 23 D&D Building will load 80 employees on a “sleigh” coach bus at 7:00 in the morning to begin a 4-hour safety training day. Employees will meet at Hillside Community Church, 1440 68th, Kentwood Michigan.

Safety Management Group is conducting the training as the “sleigh” makes its way to and from Cabela’s in Dundee, MI.

“We gave our employees, as part of their Christmas bonus, certificates to Cabela’s.” Said D & D Building President Scott Gibson. “Our idea is to have some fun while learning important safety practices.”

Safety Management Group will focus on four areas in the four hour training:

- Fall Protection
- Asbestos Awareness
- Scaffold Platform
- Rough Terrain Forklift

“We wanted to try something new with our employees,” said Jim Wyatt, Safety Director at D&D Building. “The safety training can be tedious when given all at once. Yet it is one of the most important components of our work. Training while we travel will be enjoyable and interesting at the same time.”

For more information please contact Scott Gibson, President, D&D Building (616) 243-5633.

-- ### --